Ana Marusic was installed on 20 May as president of the Council of Science Editors for the 2007-2008 term. Marusic, professor of anatomy at the Zagreb University School of Medicine, has been editor-in-chief of the Croatian Medical Journal since 1995. She also is a past president of the World Association of Medical Editors. A Council member since 1993, she has served on the Annual Meeting Program Committee and the Nominating Committee, been a speaker and moderator at CSE annual meetings, and contributed articles to Science Editor and its predecessor, CBE Views.

Newly Elected

Diane Berneath Lang, manager of editorial processes in the Journals Division of the University of Chicago Press, has been elected CSE vice president for 2007-2008. Lang was CSE secretary from 2003 to 2007 and directed the CSE short-course program during those years. She also has served on the Education Committee and the Awards and Honors Committee. She was the organizer of the CSE Short Course for Manuscript Editors from 2000 to 2002, and she has spoken at and reported on CSE annual meetings.

Rebecca S Benner, managing editor of Obstetrics & Gynecology, is the new secretary. A CSE member since 2000, she joined the Education Committee in 2004 and chaired it from 2005 to 2007. Her activities as committee chair included spearheading the development of the CSE International Scholarship Program.

Devora Krischer, medical editor at Caremark, has been elected a director of CSE. Krischer chaired the Sponsorship Committee from 2002 to 2005 and chaired the Program Committee for the 2006 CSE annual meeting. Most recently, she headed the CSE 50th-Anniversary Task Force. She has contributed many articles and reports to Science Editor.

Continuing on the Board

Diane Scott-Lichter, senior director of publications at The Endocrine Society, has ascended from vice president to president-elect.

Frank Stumpf, president and chief operating officer, SPI Publisher Services, continues as treasurer.

Anna G Trudgett, managing editor of Blood, continues as treasurer-elect.

Jessica Ancker, statistics instructor and PhD candidate, Department of Biomedical Informatics, Columbia University, and Christine Arturo, acquisitions and program manager, American Academy of Ophthalmology, continue as directors.

Monica Bradford, executive editor of Science, remains on the board as immediate past president.